Re: Academic Personnel training opportunities

All courses in both the Academic Personnel Certificate program and the advanced workshop series are now available for registration. The date and time of courses to be offered later in the academic year are to be determined (by default the registration page shows a date of Sunday January 1, 2017). Registered participants will be notified of the time and date once they are set.

Please encourage interested staff within your office to sign up for the certificate program courses or workshops as appropriate. The original announcement, including the link to register, appears below.
